Holiday Safety Tips

Keeping your accounts safe and secure should be a priority year-round. But during this busy holiday season, it is vital to protect your personal information.

- Don’t give personal information over the phone, online, or via text message. This information includes debit or credit card information, a Social Security Number, passwords, various account numbers, or driver’s license number.
- Change passwords frequently and use complicated passwords.
- Keep an eye on your debit or credit card throughout the transaction while shopping or dining out.
- Store your receipts via Virtual StrongBox. You can keep them organized and ready to access if needed.
- Enroll in eStatements and alerts to watch for fraudulent activity.
- Sign up for IDProtect® at http://www.firstunitedcu.org/id-theft-protection/.

Use caution whenever and wherever you use your cards, whether online, via mobile or in person. And never share personal information with businesses or individuals you don’t know or trust.
